Subject Statement and Long Term Plan

Citizenship – Statement of Intent

“If you're not actively involved in getting what you want, you don't really want it”

- Peter McWilliams

Intent

At Goldwyn Plus Folkestone we would like our students to acquire a sound knowledge and understanding of how the United Kingdom is governed, its political system and how citizens participate actively in its democratic systems of government. We also strive to develop a sound knowledge and understanding of the role of law and the justice system in our society and how laws are shaped and enforced. Citizenship Studies will be aiming to inspire and raise aspirations in relation to the whole child, seeking out possible careers in line with our CEIAG offering.

Implement action

Students that study Citizenship at Goldwyn Plus Folkestone are able to express views and opinions in a safe environment that embraces a united community spirit. Citizenship education helps individuals to learn to respect people with different ethnic backgrounds, nationalities and cultures – challenging opinions appropriately when necessary.

We aim to develop an interest in, and commitment to, participation in volunteering as well as other forms of responsible activity, that they will take with them into adulthood that allows them to enhance skills to think critically and debate political questions, to enable them to manage their money on a day-to-day basis, and plan for future financial needs.

Citizenship Studies meets the national curriculum requirements. It supports the government’s requirements for schools to implement anti-extremist Prevent Duty, which has become a legal requirement. The Government recommends Citizenship as a means of achieving this.

It is an ideal tool for exploring British values which are required by the Government. Citizenship education is important in building character and developing important transferable skills such as communication, initiative, interacting with people and team working. Citizenship also supports the school’s Spiritual, Moral, Social and Cultural outcomes. Citizenship is the only subject in the national curriculum that teaches about the way democracy, politics, the economy and the law work.

Impact

The subject is engaging because its issues can be:

- real topics which affect people's lives;
- topical, meaning that students enjoy up-to-date issues;
- controversial, helping students to consider their own and other people's views;
- moral, helping students to work out what is right or wrong, good or bad, important or unimportant in society.

Citizenship Studies also benefits young people:

- It helps students develop self-confidence and deal with significant life changes and challenges;
- It gives students a voice in their schools, their communities and in society;
- It helps students to develop the skills and experience required to claim their rights, understand their responsibilities and prepares them for the challenges and opportunities of adult and working life.

Students will be offered the opportunity to take a GCSE in Citizenship. Citizenship also helps to develop motivated and responsible learners who relate positively to each other, to staff and to the surrounding community.

Citizenship: Long Term Plan

The citizenship plan reflects a key focus upon understanding, reflecting and developing an understanding of our world. It is anticipated that all students will have the opportunity to study for a GCSE in Citizenship. The Curriculum Plan has a clear sequence centred upon both prior learning and expectations for future learning.
